OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 26, 1918

Report comes to us that Mrs. Alva Billings is quite sick with the flu. Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hutchison are both laid up with the flu, and they are reported quite sick.

Our old friend Swan Pearson, of Ellis, was in the city last Friday paying taxes and made us a short visit. Brom Hixson, who has been attending the S. A. T. C. at Emporia, is home to spend the holidays with his parents.

Mrs. Marjorie Rinker arrived home from Washington, D. C., Christmas day to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Gibson.

Floyd McNair, who is attending S. A. T. C. at Emporia, and Frank Rinker who is attending S. A. T. C. at Lawrence, came home to spend the holidays with their parents.

Judd Benson arrived home from Lawrence the first of the week to spend the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Benson.

We are sorry to note the death of Mrs. J. J. Deines, of South Trego, whose death occurred Christmas day; also the death of Mrs. J. J. Fabricius which occurred Tuesday. Obituaries next week.

George Musgrave was up from Ogallah Thursday forenoon expecting to take the train for Lamar, Mo., being called there by a telegram announcing the serious illness of his brother, Walter.

Schuyler Gibson and Loyd Stephens, who have been at Lawrence taking army vocational work returned home last Thursday night having been honorably discharged. The boys are looking good.

Last Wednesday Arthur Rich, son of Mrs. K. Rich, of Ogallah, while pulling a gun out of a wagon with the muzzle toward him, the trigger caught and the gun was discharged, the contents entered the arm making a very bad wound.

Dockie Smith arrived in the city last Sunday morning and is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ad Rush, in south Graham county. His wife was formerly Miss Mable Rush. They will return to their home in Eldorado after the holiday season.

Thursday morning we received the sad news of the death of Mrs. Walter Musgrave which occurred at Lamar, Mo., Tuesday. The body is expected to arrive in Ogallah this evening and the funeral will be held from there Friday. Obituary next week.

J. H. Hockin, who formerly lived at Banner, writes that he has been working for Uncle Sam ever since the war started, and is stationed at Fort Madison, Iowa. He says: "Give my regards to Thos. O'Toole and Ike Purcell and the rest of the boys."

John Olson, the big cattle man, of Wilcox township shipped four carloads of Whitefaced steers, 2 years old, to the Kansas City market last Sunday morning. He was fortunate as he arrived at the stock yards just ahead of the storm. This was the finest bunch of cattle shipped out of here this fall and Mr. Olson realized a neat sum on his investment.

Audley Graft arrived home Christmas day from "over there", having been mustered out of service at Camp Funston. And was one of the first of our boys to volunteer his services in the defense of democracy and spent seven months across the waters. He was most of the time in England with the 337th Aero Squad. He looks like a real soldier and says believe me those English and French lassies are all right, but good old Kansas looks good to him.

Wm Bowman, an old time settler in the south part of the county, died at the State Hospital this week and was brought home via Wa-Keeney for burial. Twenty nine years ago Mr. Bowman's mind became affected and he was taken to the hospital for treatment. A cure was never effected and he finally died in the institution. Mrs. Bowman was in Iowa visiting when the death news came to her. Joe Bowman still lives on the home place in Happy township—Hill City Republican.

Following the big rain of last week this section of the country was visited by a heavy snow storm which took on the proportions of a blizzard last Monday. The snow was accompanied by a high wind and drifted very badly making the roads almost impassable. In Colorado it is said that there was nearly four feet on the level but when the wind rose it piled it into immense drifts which paralyzed traffic and tied up railroad service for several days. Snow plows were in service between Salina and Denver, clearing the tracks on Tuesday. The storm was hard on stock on account of the wind. All trains are still running behind schedule.

Guy DeBoer shipped out last week five barrels of rabbits to Kansas City. Misses Engelberry and Kathryn Triplett spent Saturday evening with Mrs. J. W. Spens.

Judge I. T. Purcell attended to business matters in Topeka and Russell the fore part of the week.

Just as we go to press the sad news comes of the death of Mrs. Walter Musgrave which occurred at Lamar, Mo., Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Eichman sr., are rejoicing over the arrival of their son, Godfrey, who returned from Camp Funston.

Wm. Cox, the live real estate agent of Collyer, was in the city Monday afternoon interviewing Cal Loyd on a big land deal.

Myron Niesley, who has been attending S. A. T. C. at Emporia, came home last Thursday night to spend the holidays with home folks.

James H. Law, arrived home the first of the week from Ft. Winfield Scott, Calif. He has been honorably discharged from the service.

Frank Klenk, of Wa-Keeney, a student at the Fort Hays Normal School in 1916 was seriously wounded in action on November 9th.—Hays Free Press.

Morgan Wollner, Clyde Acre and Leonard Gibson, who have been attending S. A. T. C. at Hays have been discharged and came home last Saturday night.

A. Rush, the big cattleman of south Graham county, was a Kansas City visitor last week. He sold a car of fat cattle and came home with a big check in his clothes.

B. A. Stevens, book-keeper for the Trego County Co-operative association, returned the latter part of last week from the Great Lakes training camp, where he was in service having been honorably discharged.

A marriage license was issued by Judge McLain yesterday to Frank Hall, of Codell and Elsie Ginter, of Hays. They were married last evening by Rev. Snapp. The news joins their friends with hearty good wishes.—Hays News.

Heyl's Candy shop has the thanks of the World family for a fine large box of Xmas candy made by their expert candy maker who certainly is an artist in his line. The candy was fine and the gift was much appreciated.

We are pleased to note a message from the war department to Mr. Evers Friday morning said his son, Pvt. John F. Evers, had been found and was in France in the best of health and their many friends rejoice with them over the good tidings.

SOUTH TREGO

How did you like Monday for a change.

A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to all.

James Benisch called on Joseph Jackson Sunday.

Ask Mrs. John Olson how she enjoyed the trip to Ransom Monday.

Joe Gorsky is assisting on the Olsen Ranch hauling oil cake this week.

Miss Lena Dienes is assisting in caring for Mrs. J. Geo. Deines this week who is quite sick.

Mrs. Frank Benisch and son left for Ellis Saturday to be with her parents during Christmas.

Miss Grace Hamm, the teacher of Wilcox school, spent the fore part of the week at James Benisch's home. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hietman are enjoying a visit from Mrs. Hietman's son, Mr. Lee Smith, of Eldorado, Kansas, who is here to spend Christmas with them.

Word was received today that Mrs. J. J. Fabricius sr., passed away, and will be buried in the German Lutheran cemetery tomorrow. The entire family have the deepest sympathy of all.

W. R. Gregory Sundayed over in Collyer. He was the guest of his good friend, Clyde Vanderhor.

RED CROSS CALLED ON TO CONTINUE ITS WORK INDEFINITELY

CHAPTERS AND BRANCHES WILL BE CENTERS IN EACH COMMUNITY FOR GIVING AID TO DISTRESSED HUMANITY.

ACTIVITIES NOT CURTAILED

Membership Campaign Each Christmas Will Be Means of Calling Americans Together to Show Spirit of Love.

Henry P. Davison, Chairman of the War Council of the Red Cross, has issued to the 3,854 chapters and the 22,000,000 members of the American Red Cross the following statement outlining the future policy of the American Red Cross:

"The whole American people will be invited in the week preceding Christmas to enroll as members of the Red Cross. It is confidently believed there will be no further campaigns for Red Cross funds, but instead the annual roll call will constitute the foundation of the Red Cross. The people should therefore know as definitely as possible the plans of this their national humanitarian society.

"Since the armistice was signed I have had an opportunity to confer in Paris with the heads of all American Red Cross commissions in Europe, and later, in Washington, with the President of the United States, the War Council of the Red Cross, the managers of the 14 Red Cross divisions of the United States and with the heads of our departments at national headquarters. I am, therefore, able to speak now with knowledge and assurance in saying that the beneficent work of the American Red Cross is to go forward on a great scale—not alone, as heretofore, for purposes of relief of war, but as an agency of peace and permanent human service.

"Since America's entry into war the purpose of our Red Cross has been primarily to aid our army and navy in the care of our own men under arms, and, secondly, to extend relief to the soldiers, sailors and civilians of those nations which were fighting our battles along with their own. With the funds which have been so generously contributed by the American people this war work of the Red Cross will continue and be complete with all possible sympathy and energy.

"Wherever our soldiers and sailors may be, the Red Cross will stay with them until they are demobilized. Nothing which we may do will be left undone, either. For the men in the war zone, for those returning, for those in the camps and hospitals or for their families at home the Red Cross will continue its ministrations. In this latter effort 50,000 trained Red Cross workers are now engaged at 2,500 different places throughout the land.

"The problems of reconstruction, involving feeding and caring for the distressed civilian population of Europe, are of such magnitude that necessarily they must be met very largely by the governments of our allies, with whom our own government will co-operate.

"The great task of fighting tuberculosis, promoting child welfare and caring for refugees, with which the American Red Cross has concerned itself so effectively in France, Italy and Belgium, will at an early date be assumed by the governments, the Red Cross organizations and the relief societies of those countries, which, now that they are released from the terrific burden of waging war, naturally desire to take care, as far as they can, of their own people.

"The war program of the American Red Cross will thus steadily and rapidly merge itself into a peace program. The wake of war will, however, reveal the prevalence of disease and give rise to epidemics and emergencies which in all parts of the world will call for unlimited voluntary effort, the cutting of red tape and the manifestation of those qualities of human sympathy which government action cannot display.

"Here will be the opportunity for the American Red Cross. But even our Red Cross must not and cannot act most effectively alone; we must labor in co-operation with the National Red Cross and relief societies of other nations, to the end that not alone the heart of America but the heart of all mankind may be mobilized on behalf of suffering humanity.

"While, therefore, the plans of the American Red Cross in this direction cannot be formulated specifically, in advance of the general relief program of the Allied governments, the American Red Cross is nevertheless planning to develop its permanent organization in this country upon a scale never before contemplated in time of peace.

"The commissions which are now conducting the activities of the American Red Cross in foreign countries, as well as the temporary war organization in this country, will as a matter of course ultimately merge their energies with those of the permanent organization of the Red Cross.

"With the war has developed the striking and important fact that many men and women, some of whom have met with great success in devoting their lives entirely to business, came into the Red Cross organization at the outset of the war simply that they might serve their country, but have realized such a satisfaction to themselves in the opportunity to serve mankind that they now desire to become a part of the permanent peace organization of the American Red Cross.

"There may, therefore, be perfect confidence that the peace activities of the Red Cross will be conducted under able and inspiring leadership. The chapters will maintain their organizations upon a scale adequate to the new demands to be made upon them. Local committees will indeed appreciate more and more the value of having in their midst strong and efficient Red Cross chapters. The divisional organizations, with honorary and permanent staffs, will be maintained, always ready for service, and national headquarters will have a large and efficient personnel to direct the activities of the organization as a whole.

"Study is being given by the national organization not alone to problems of international relief, but to plans in this country for enlarged home service, the promotion of public health education, development of nursing, the care and prevention of accidents, and other correlated lines which may contribute to the health and happiness of men, women and children. Such plans, when developed, will, it is believed, provide both for world relief and for home community service and thus constitute a channel for the continued and useful expression by Red Cross workers and members of those qualities of sympathy and love which our whole people have poured out so unstintingly during this war.

"For the completion of its war work and for the institution of its peace program, the Red Cross is fortunately in a healthy financial condition. Abundant occasion for the use of large funds of money and great quantities of garments and other supplies will continue to arise, but it is believed that there will be no further need for intensive campaigns for funds. The work of supplementing governmental activities which the Red Cross will be called upon to do in all parts of the world will be upon a great scale, but it will call for human service rather than for large expenditures.

"What the American Red Cross needs now is not so much contributions of money as the continued devotion and loyalty of its members. This is peculiarly true at this moment of transition from war to peace. Annual membership involves the payment of only one dollar. The money thus received not only will defray all the administrative expenses of the organization, but will leave it a substantial balance which, together with all funds subscribed directly for relief, is devoted solely to that purpose.

"The roll call of the nation is thus to be called at Christmas time, that through enrollment in their Red Cross the American people may send a message to our soldiers still overseas and to the people of the world that we are not merely content with seeing our arms united with our allies in victory, but that our abiding purpose, is that the love, the sympathy and the intelligence of all America shall be rededicated to the permanent service of mankind."

Hun (in attitude of prayer): "Mein Gott! Help! We're being robbed! They're talking from us everything we've stolen!"—From LeRire (Paris.)

Uncle Sam's shipping experts have discovered that the hole in macaroni takes up too much room and must hereafter be squeezed out. If those same experts had to subsist on macaroni for a few days they would discover that the hole is the only part of the slimy stuff that has any kick to it.—Exchange.

It happened in the German capital. Two Socialists were standing talking in the street, and one, becoming excited, explained: "I tell you what, that idiot of an emperor—" His discourse was cut short. Turning quickly, he was confronted by a policeman, who informed him that he was under arrest. "What for?" asked the captive, beginning to weaken. "For uttering treason against your emperor." "Oh, but you didn't let me finish. I was going to say, 'that idiot of an emperor of Japan.'" "No, you don't," replied the policeman. "There's only one idiot of an emperor. Come along with me."—R.
